past several months Mr. Goodridge has been devoting his time and energy to the discovery and location of oil lands. He is in the city now for the purpose of securing financial assistance in his undertaking, and comes fully equipped to show just what he has.

Within a distance of three miles along the banks of the San Juan and about fifty miles west of Eluff City, Mr. Goodridge has located ground covering no less than eight or nine springs from which flow all of ten barrels of crude petroleum, carrying 80 per cent paraffine a day. This crude oil, the gentleman sayz, is identical in character with that found in the oil fields at Florence, Colo,, and he is satisfied that with machinery he can open up some of the biggest oil wells in the country. He has with him samples of the nature of the country and numerous large photographs which give a splendid idea of the nature of the country and is investigations have been backed by men oil his own community, but he has reached a stage where some additional help is required to determine the real extent and value of his property, and he stands ready to talk business in a reasonable way with any one who has money and nerve enough to embark in the encerprise with him. Of the ultimate result he personalty has no doubt, as a railway from Dolores, over the Colorado line, is now being agfitated, and latest advices are that the Rio Grande or some of its eastern connections will shortly begin its construction. The proposed route runs from Dolores to Bluff, thence along the San Juan through the oil section, and on down to Flagstaff, forming a junction with that Arizona station on the Sant Ee.

Santa Fe.

The Durango Democrat of Aug. 1 had an account of what is proposed in this line, and Mr. Goodridge says the route selected is a most natural easy one. In addition to the oil, there is good coal both above and below where he is located, as well as the gold placer diggings, and copper float can be found most anywhere. The San Juan valley, he says, is well adapted to farming and stock raising, and he feels that small investments made at this time will bring handsome returns in the not distant future.

Mr. Goodridge will be in town for another day or two, when he will leave for Marysvale to meet parties there. The San Juan country he says, is deserving of close investigation, and

Mr. Goodridge will be in town for another day or two, when he will leave for Marysvale to meet parties there. The San Juan country he says, is deserving of close investigation, and whether he succeeds in interesting anybody in the oil lands or not, he will be pleased to meet any one interested in the section and tell them all he knows concerning it. Mr. Goodridge is a modest, unpretentious gentleman and a talk with him would prove interesting and profitable to any one.

The mine is reported to never have looked so well as at the present time, and the gold values in the ore are said to have increased from something over $4 near the surface to $25 or over per ton in the lowest workings. Silver values are also better, and when the first clean-up is made a most flattering exhibit is promised.

EARNING NICE MONEY.

The Cygnet Property at Stockton is Opening Up Well.

One of the cleanest-cut mining propsitions in the districts tributary to Balt Lake is that of the Cygnet company, owning the Hercules and several other claims at Stockton. The Herald a few days ago told of the recent strike in the company's ground on what is known as the No. 5 cross-ledge in the strike in the company's ground on what is known as the No. 5 cross-ledge in the Honorine. All that was said then is true, only that the half was not told. President T. H. Burton said yesterday that during the five years which he and his brother, I. A. Burton, and their partners, had been working the ground, several ledges had been encountered, and more than one of them had not as yet been fairly prospected. As it is, the company is marketing two cars of ore a week, which certainly nets over $500 a car, as the ore carries an exverage of 50 per cent lead and somewhere around thirty ounces of silver besides the gold.

The property has paid its way from the beginning, and is yet supplying a surplus used in securing additional territory. The ground purchasing business disposed of, Mr. Burton says, the net earnings will be used to further develop the mine, and, next spring, he thinks a mill will be erected to treat the second-class ores, a large tonnage of which is accumulating.

The property is held as a close corporation, the owners of every share of the stock being vested in T. H. and I. A. Burton, Arthur Zerbe and Arthur Gibson.

These are the beginnings of what must eventually come to pass in the Philippines, namely the organization and use of native soldiers to preserve order in the country.

In December of last year about 600 ilocanos came to Colonei Kennon at Cabanatuan, and asked to eniist under the American flag. Colonel Kennon at once opened negotiations with the corps headquarters in Manila on the matter and June i he was granted permission to enlist fifty llocanos as scouts. During this interim of six months the 600 men were employed as far as possible as road builders, ration carriers and guides. The success of this first detachment in the service will probably soon lead to the enlistment of other Ilocano tribesmen.

Race Hatred is Fierce.

Race Hatred is Fierce.

Between Ilocano and Tagalog there is a fierce race hatred. The Tagalogs have lorded it over the Ilocanos for years, and have held them down and oppressed them. But today the Ilocanos, who pride themselves on belonging to another and distinct tribe from the Tagalogs, have in a measure accepted American sovereignty and are itching for chances to get at their enemy.

This attitude of the Ilocanos subjects them to Tagalog reprisals and ven-geance. Last menth a band of insurgents caught three llocana women and one man alone on the road near San Jose, in Nueva Ecija province. The man and one woman were st once killed. The Nueva Ecija province. The man and one woman were at once killed. The other two women were horribly wounded with bolos and then buried alive in a well, where American soldiers later found and rescued them. Colonel Kennon's scouts were at once put on the trail of the Tagalog party that buried the Hocano women alive, and they chased and punished them.

Are Good as Spies.

In their fighting the Hocanos are much benefited by the moral support given them by the presence of Americans at their side. They do better work when with the Americans than when alone. They are not as yet very good shots and it is sometimes difficult to make them cease firing during the excitement of a skirmish. In the matter of getting information from the people and finding hidden rifles they are supreme. They can look over a crowd of Tagalogs all loudly protesting their innocence and friendliness to the Americans, and, with almost unerring correctness, pick out these who are not.

When the Hocano scouts were organized their first duty was on outpost near Cabanatuan. They at once abused the power given them by making every Tagalog who came along that road respectfully salute them. But the American officers soon put a stop to this practice. Are Good as Spies.
